From the Editor:

Spring is officially here! It's such a pleasure to see the buds on the trees and the crocus in bloom. The Second Celtic Classic is over and Kudos to everyone involved with the show. It was great! Congratulations to anyone who had a successful win or qualifying score. Spring heralds Mother's Day and that means our Red Rose Classic is coming up quickly. If you haven't already done so, please sign up to volunteer. This will be the second issue published concurrently on line. Please remember that the online option provides the perfect venue to include pictures! I would love to have lots to share with everyone in the next issue. This issue includes part 3 of the toxicology article and some food for thought regarding the hobby of breeding. You will also find the awards application and a call for nominations for any qualified member of the club to run for the Board. If you are passionate about furthering the goals of the club, if you are a creative thinker or if you have the gift of motivating people, please consider running for the Board! Remember....the awards banquet and elections will occur at the June meeting. Carolyn

From the President:

Happy Day's Are Here again...

Where do I start thanking people? Shall I start with Tammy and Deb along with their chair people or Hank and his crew or should it be Ann Byrne and the Obedience and Rally Stewards?

Better yet let us all extend a Thank You to every one of the Volunteers regardless of what job they took. You deserve it.

The Celtic Classic was a triumph not only the show but the camaraderie that has been developed with and within the three clubs. The committee as it stands worked tirelessly to support each other to create a team that has overcome past grievances and developed a close working relationship. We should all be glad that going forward the Celtic Classic will become the Premier Cluster on the east coast.

The Celtic Classic is over for this year but the work begins anew, meetings will be starting Judges Selection is already working to bring together a panel to match any other. Vendors have reserved their spaces. National and Regional Breed Clubs are contemplating more Specialties and Supported Entries in the coming years.

.....So let me just say, you all are the greatest team of people I have had the privilege of working with in a long time.

To say I am happy is to put it mildly. The Celtic Classic went great and I can see that every year we will get better and better, thanks to you guys. It is a lot of hard work. I have made a great bunch of new friends from this adventure. I left Sunday with a smile on my face and plans in my head for next year.....Again, my thanks to all for your hard work and dedication to the Celtic Classic.

*Terry Nuss
Celtic Classic Show Chair*

Once Again Congratulations to all the people involved. Great Job!

General Membership Meeting Reminder

Wednesday, April 8 at 7:00 PM

Park City Community Room

Guest Speaker is James Mitchell, AKC Field Representative
(Confirmation pending)

Please plan to attend and share your thoughts!

Reminder: LKC Newsletter Online!

Ladies and Gentleman we are beginning to utilize our web site to help LKC save money and provide for better communication within the Kennel Club.

Beginning with the last edition of the Newsletter, we started posting it on the LKC site for your review. This is the trial to work through any possible problems that may arise.

We plan on continuing to send a hardcopy to every member for an indeterminate time perhaps until the next time dues are collected. At that time, you may request a hard copy continue to be sent. We will continue to send copies to those who do not have access to the Internet, so no one will be excluded because of technology.

A section on the website will be developed as a "Members Only" area that will be password protected. For now the Newsletter will be available to anyone who wishes to read it online.

 Financial Information will NOT be placed on the site until we go live with the protected members' area that will be created and tested**

So please check out the Newsletter online and provide feedback.

Election Season is at Hand

It is time for members to submit resumes for the elections at the June Meeting. If you have been a member in good standing for three years and you have not served on the Board of Directors this past year, you are eligible. Please consult the By-Laws for additional information. If you have the determination to help direct the club, complete the resume form included in this newsletter and send your information to Hank Hillard, Earl Acker and Barry Brunner. Nominees will be published in the next newsletter.

Braggs and Wags:

From Billee Herdwig:

Her Belgian Tervuren, Eternity's Unique (Dylan), received his Rally Novice title at the LKC Celtic Classic on March 12, 2009. Thanks to Judge Carole Artim for his 3rd leg and thanks to Robert Wolf for all the training and guidance.

From Carolyn Vack and Wendy Mount and their Shetland Sheepdogs:

BISS Caerleon Sunset Boulevard, 2 CC was BOB at the Central Virginia Shetland Sheepdog Club Specialty on February 8 under judge Yvonne DeFreitas

Sunebank Caerleon It's A Riot was WD at the Celtic Classic, March 12 under judge Pat Hess.

Caerleon Sunset Sensation was WB, BOW for her first points and a major at the Celtic Classic on Sunday March 15 under judge Larry B Stein

From the Show Chairman:

I would like to thank all that were involved in front of and behind the scenes of the Celtic Classic. Everything went smoothly with only a couple kinks to work out for next year. The show could not have gone on without the support of the club members. The LKC and I appreciate all that everyone did for the show. We will be getting together for a post show meeting very soon and we will be getting ready to gear up for next year. Any comments or suggestions for next year please let me know so that I can take them along to the meetings.

Thank you again for all your help and support.

Tammy

 the following letter was received from an exhibitor at the show and deserves to be shared by all!

Please extend to all in your organization my thanks and congratulations for putting on a great obedience trial. This is the second of your trials in the Old Main building that I have attended, and you certainly lived up to the high standard established last year.

Everything about it seemed to go smoothly, as did last year's trial.

All of us in the obedience community appreciate the great job your club has done in securing what has to be one of the best sites for an obedience trial in the area, and the time and attention you all put to make it successful.

Again, thank you!

AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB AND MOTEL 6 OFFER

NEW YORK - The American Kennel Club (AKC®), a not-for-profit organization which maintains the largest registry of purebred dogs in the world, today announced a special agreement with Motel 6 and Studio 6 to offer all AKC registered dog owners a 10% discount on room reservations nationwide.

To reserve a room and activate the discount, all AKC registrants can log on to www.motel6.com and enter access code CP542764 for Motel 6 or visit www.staystudio6.com and enter the access code CP542765 for Studio 6 reservations.

"We are pleased to work with Motel 6 to offer AKC registered dog owners discounts during these tough economic times," said Dennis Sprung, President/CEO, AKC. "Last year alone, the AKC sanctioned more than 20,000 events that drew more than three million entries. These added savings will help AKC registrants find a comfortable place to rest with their dogs on their way to and from competitive events or while they are traveling on vacation."

"The AKC is the premiere organization that oversees the sport of purebred dogs in the United States," said Olivier Poirot, CEO for Accor North America, Motel 6 and Studio 6. "Motel 6 has been pet friendly since 1962, and we're happy to offer AKC registered dogs and their owners even more savings on our more than 1,000 properties across the United States and Canada."

Additional information on this program can be found online at http://www.akc.org/motel6_studio6/.

Part 3 (and final) Toxicology Brief: The 10 most common toxicoses in dogs

Reprinted from DVM360.com

Mar 1, 2006

By: Irina Meadows, DVM, Sharon Gwaltney-Brant, DVM, PhD

VETERINARY MEDICINE

Thyroid hormones

Natural (desiccated thyroid) and synthetic (levothyroxine) derivatives of thyroid hormones are used to treat hypothyroidism in animals and people.

Dogs can maintain a remarkably normal physiologic state in the face of a massive L-thyroxine overdose. Such resistance to developing thyrotoxicosis can be explained in part by pharmacokinetics, such as poor GI absorption, serum tri-iodothyronine (T₃) and thyroxine (T₄) being highly protein bound, alternative metabolic pathways, and greater potential for biliary excretion and fecal loss. In addition, certain organs (particularly the liver and kidneys) can concentrate thyroid hormones intracellularly, thereby rendering these hormones unavailable to bind to tissue receptors and induce a physiologic effect. Thus, the liver and kidneys can act as buffers by releasing small or large amounts of hormones, depending on what the body needs, back into the plasma. In an overdose situation, these buffer organs can concentrate the extra hormone and not release the already stored hormone.¹²

Dogs ingesting 0.2 mg/kg levothyroxine may develop mild signs, and dogs ingesting 1 mg/kg or more may need treatment. Hyperactivity and tachycardia are the most common signs of thyrotoxicosis.¹³

Initiate gastric decontamination procedures in patients that ingest a large dose, and monitor the patients' ECGs, blood pressures, and serum T₄ concentrations. Treatment is symptomatic and supportive. Diazepam can be given to control hyperactivity, and beta-blockers can be given to control tachycardia.¹²

Bleach

Regular household bleaches contain 3% to 6% sodium hypochlorite; commercial bleaches are typically much more concentrated. Color-safe bleaches contain sodium peroxide, sodium perborates, or enzymatic detergents. Most household bleaches are mild to moderate irritants and are not associated with a marked degree of tissue destruction. Household bleaches can cause skin or eye irritation, mild oral or esophageal burns, or GI irritation.¹⁴ Commercial bleaches can be corrosive and lead to severe stomatitis, pharyngitis, esophagitis, or esophageal ulcerations. Inhalation exposure to bleach can cause respiratory irritation, coughing, and bronchospasm. More serious damage can occur when bleach is mixed with ammonia-containing agents, forming chloramine and chlorine gases. Inhaling these gases can lead to a chemical pneumonitis.

To treat dermal exposure, bathe the dog with mild dishwashing detergent. The preferred initial treatment with bleach ingestion is oral dilution with milk or water. Dilution is most effective if it is performed early. Emesis is contraindicated because of the irritating properties of household bleach and the potential corrosive effects of commercial bleaches. GI protectants such as sucralfate or H₂-blockers can also be used to symptomatically treat bleach ingestion. Treating corrosive damage may also require pain medications, antibiotics, and nutritional support. Oxygen and bronchodilators may be needed to treat respiratory signs in cases of inhalation exposure.

Fertilizer

Fertilizer products generally contain varying amounts of nitrogen (N), phosphorus (P), and potassium (K) compounds. Product ingredients are often listed as N-P-K 10-8-8, where each number is the corresponding ingredient's concentration percentage. Fertilizer formulations include liquid, granular, and solid (e.g. stakes), and fertilizer additives may include herbicides, insecticides, fungicides, iron, copper, or zinc. Because fertilizers are usually a combination of ingredients, several toxic principles are possible. In general, the ingredients are poorly absorbed, and most of the signs are related to GI irritation.

Fertilizers have a wide margin of safety.¹⁵ GI signs such as vomiting, hypersalivation, diarrhea, or lethargy are common in dogs after ingesting fertilizers, especially ones with high percentages of phosphorus and potassium compounds. In most cases these signs are self-limiting and resolve within 12 to 24 hours.¹⁵

Treat animals with GI signs supportively with antiemetics, fluids, and GI protectants. Address added insecticides or herbicides separately. Heavy metals, such as iron, are generally not bioavailable but can pose a hazard when dogs ingest large amounts.

Hydrocarbons

Hydrocarbons are in numerous products, including paints, varnishes, engine cleaners, furniture polish, lighter fluid, lamp oils, paint removers, and fuel oil (e.g. acetone, xylene, kerosene, gasoline, naphtha, mineral oil). GI signs such as vomiting and diarrhea are common in dogs ingesting hydrocarbons. Mild to moderate eye irritation and reversible ocular injury may occur after contact with most hydrocarbons.¹⁶ Acute but prolonged skin exposure to some hydrocarbons can result in dermal burns and, occasionally, systemic effects. Low-viscosity, highly volatile hydrocarbons (e.g. those found in kerosene, gasoline, liquid furniture polish) are aspiration hazards. Pulmonary damage, transient CNS depression or excitement, hypoxia, inflammation, and, potentially, secondary infection (pneumonia) can occur.¹⁶ Hepatic and renal damage have been reported from a percentage of both experimental and field cases of hydrocarbon poisoning. Some hydrocarbons are also apparently capable of sensitizing the myocardium to endogenous catecholamines, resulting in arrhythmias and even complete cardiovascular collapse.¹⁶

Because of the risk of aspiration, emesis is contraindicated in patients ingesting products containing hydrocarbons. Dilution can be recommended. To treat topical exposure, bathe the dog with a liquid dishwashing detergent. Flush the eyes copiously with saline in cases of ocular exposure. Closely monitor patients for aspiration pneumonia, particularly in vomiting dogs.¹⁶ Treatment is supportive and symptomatic.

Food for Thought!

Caution: Read this with Care

This copy was a posting to Craig's List from the Pittsburg Area. While this only represents the opinion of one individual, it should be of concern to us all that this kind of negative propaganda is being spread. If we continue to ignore the Animal Rights people such as PETA and HSUS they will ultimately gain the high ground in the argument. Once that is done they will be able to frame the conversation in the realm of public opinion and we must work twice as hard to overcome their accusations.

Please utilize every opportunity to advance the cause of responsible dog breeding and dog ownership. We are the stewards for this hobby of dogs that we love so much. If we don't do it....NOBODY WILL!

Breeding Ignorance (TRUE DOG LOVERS ADOPT)

Reply to: see below

Date: 2009-03-16, 1:45AM EDT

I do hope that, with education and constant reminding, people will become more aware of the destruction created by breeders. 20 years ago most large pet stores sold dogs from crates right out of the store. Now terms like back yard breeder and puppy mill are putting a deserved stain on the reputations of breeders everywhere. There really is no such thing as a responsible breeder when there are young, healthy animals being put down every day.

Dog breeding is now a vocation of the ignorant. Unfortunately, the breeders are not the ones to suffer. They get fat on blood money while unwanted pets pay with their lives. And how about the people who support the breeders - dogs suffer and die because of your choices.

Open your eyes people. Contributing to the pet overpopulation problem is not done out of love.

INTELLIGENT PEOPLE EVERYWHERE ARE REALIZING THE STUPIDITY OF PEDIGREES AND PAPERS FOR FAMILY PETS!!
SLAVE TRADERS SELL LIVES - DOG LOVERS ADOPT!!

Thank you from Penn Veterinary Medicine

A thank you was received from Deb Lefferts on behalf of Penn School of Veterinary Medicine thanking the Lancaster Kennel Club for the $1500 scholarship awarded to Ann Cooper and the $1000 scholarship awarded to Kathleen McIntyre and thanking the club for their continuing support of their students.

Lancaster Kennel Club General Meeting

February 11, 2009

Meeting called to order at 7:00 AM. President Bernie Ferry presiding

Guests: Andrew Woodling, Amanda Harrington, Christie Bodwell

Secretary: The December minutes were not received in time for the February newsletter and will be published in April

Correspondence: Flyers for upcoming outside club events were shared

Application for membership: Final reading for Mary and Harold Hartman. Motion by Margaret Crothers, second by Lori Wright to approve them for membership. Motion carried.

Treasurer: Financial statements for December and January were distributed. Motion by Maribeth Acker, second by Gail Hillard to accept the financial statements for December 08 and January 09. Motion carried.

AKC Delegate-no new report. Another evening with Cindy is under consideration. Cindy is still working on the Dogs of War presentation. The target date for the program is Veteran's Day.

Puppy referral: 26 emails, 16 calls were received. Interestingly, 4 calls for Sussex spaniels were just received.

Celtic Classic: Reminder entries close on 2/25. A formal presentation of the canine rescue masks will be made. An ad was placed in Dog News. Reminder about the match after the point show. Volunteer sign up sheet available. 40 vendors have reserved stands. Amy Dieter is coordinating the list of volunteers. All is in order for the match and flyers were distributed

Red Rose Classic: All approvals have been received. 245 ad solicitations were mailed.

Scholarship: Monies were distributed. A thank you was received from Penn Veterinary Medicine. A thank you was received from Ann Cooper. Notification of our scholarships was in process to the AKC. The recipients will be invited to the annual awards dinner.

June awards dinner: Will be held at the Eden Resort, Wednesday June 10. The menu will be reviewed at the April meeting.

Awards: The committee has developed the following: Awards choices will be plaques, vest with logo and award earned embroidered or light weight jacket with logo and award earned embroidered. Examples were provided. Applications for awards will be in the April newsletter.

ByLaws: Bernie Ferry, Rainbear Mahoney and Gail Hillard met to review our current ByLaws. The committee is comparing them to the current AKC bylaws. There appear to be a few areas that need to be updated to bring them up to date. The committee meets again March 18.

Eye Clinic: There was discussion about the possibility of expanding the services to a health clinic and perhaps changing the date to encourage better attendance. This will be added to the agenda for the Board to discuss at their next meeting. A committee will probably be formed with any changes commencing in 2010.

Old Business:

The List Serve and Newsletter on line were discussed. The purpose of the list serve is to disseminate information efficiently and quickly-particularly time sensitive dog issues.

Seminars-there was discussion on the lack of seminars coordinated by our club. Bernie asked for suggestions from club members and volunteers to plan seminars. Tammy Selka and Molly Manion volunteered to pursue seminar ideas.

New Business:

Diversifying funds-a motion was made by Tammy Selka that a finance committee be appointed to research alternate bank choices in order to maximize the club's financial status. Second by Peter Byrne. Motion carried.

Motion to adjourn by Peter Byrne, second by Maribeth Acker. Meeting adjourned at 8:50 PM

Respectfully submitted,

2009 Awards Application

Congratulations to those members that achieved a title during 2008 and 2009.

Each year at the Annual Awards and Election Banquet the LKC acknowledges the accomplishments of our members. If you have received a new title in conformation or any performance event (i.e. agility, rally, obedience, field, etc.), it's time to submit your information so that your award will be available for the annual meeting. This year we are giving you a choice in the award that you receive. You can receive one of the following awards. A plaque engraved with all the dog's information or a fleece vest or jacket with the LKC logo embroidered on the chest with the dog's name and new title(s) underneath. Please circle one of the following to indicate which one you would like to receive. If you are applying for an additional title or multiple titles won this year and you already have a plaque you will receive a hang tag with that new title. You simply attach the hang tag to the bottom of your original plaque.
